

Discussions of different estimations of the econometric models, their tests and their applications. Topics include the Simple Linear Regression Model, Generalized Linear Regression Models, Dummy variable models, dynamic models and introductory time series models. For each topic, illustrative examples will be employed during the lectures and tutorials.